PHHP Dean’s Ambassador Program

General Information

The Dean’s Ambassador Program at the College of Public Health & Health Professions (PHHP) is an exciting initiative that was launched in the fall of 2016. Ambassadors are premier student liaisons for the College of Public Health and Health Professions who work directly with Dean’s Office staff and the PHHP development officer to help organize and implement college events and activities. Our goal is to give students the opportunity to gain greater interaction with alumni, donors, and honored guests as well as prospective students, faculty, and staff who can also assist the ambassadors with their professional development. Student ambassadors are afforded an opportunity to make professional connections, be immersed in PHHP events, and encounter experiences to which students might otherwise not have access.

Mission Statement

The Mission of the Dean’s Ambassador Program is to involve a dynamic group of students dedicated to volunteering and supporting PHHP in a diverse range of college events and activities. Through participation in the program, we hope students strengthen their own professional skills, make connections with others, and expand their commitment to volunteerism. To fulfill this mission, ambassadors are recruited from students across the college who then have the opportunity to gain experience in varied college events and activities supporting education, research, and service.

Expectations

Dean’s Ambassadors represent the college. As such, they are expected to demonstrate utmost professionalism at all times, including dress and demeanor. When interacting with guests, they need to be punctual, courteous, sensitive to others’ time, and engaging.

All ambassadors will be required to attend an initial orientation where they will receive more detailed information about the program, meet other ambassadors, and receive their ambassador shirt and nametag. Once individual events are assigned, additional orientations and/or event debriefings may be held at the discretion of the ambassador’s supervisor. These may take place in the form of an in person or virtual meeting or through written correspondence if a meeting is not possible or needed. Follow-up meetings will be scheduled on an as needed basis.
Regardless of whether a preparatory meeting is held, before an event or activity, the program’s supervisor will contact the ambassadors to ensure they have any information they might need and be available to answer any questions.

Monthly meetings are scheduled for a day and time most convenient for the majority of members. While not required, these meetings are recommended for ambassadors to attend as they serve as a chance for ambassadors to connect, for information to be shared, and for other activities to be scheduled.
